Dietz & Company Architects, Inc. Welcomes Mark Hellen

Springfield, Mass. – Dietz & Company Architects is pleased to announce the addition of Mark Hellen to their team. Mark graduated from New York University and Boston Architectural College with a Master of Architecture degree. Prior to joining the firm, Mark spent over 10 years at CBT in Boston, working on various educational, residential and commercial projects.

Mark’s extensive list of experience, regionally, includes the design of Turner Hill Cottage Development, a residential project on an exclusive golf course in Ipswich, MA and Northfield Mount Hermon Rhodes Art Center, an educational project encompassing multiple classroom, art & performance spaces.

Mark’s most complex past project is Champlain College which included adding four (4) dormitory buildings to an existing neighborhood. The site introduced mini-urban planning because of the considerations of designing amongst private buildings/homes and existing college structures while establishing a campus ‘quad’ gathering and pathway system linking the new buildings together.

Mark has an energy and passion for developing unique designs. With his extensive experience, he will definitely make a positive impact to our team.

Dietz & Company Architects, Inc., one of the largest full-service firms in western Massachusetts, is a woman-owned business that opened its doors in 1985. The firm’s areas of practice include housing, educational institutions, historic renovations, commercial projects and healthcare facilities.
